

“oi/oy” words

Decodable Sentence Strips

I will need to b*oi*l the nuts in the pot to make them soft.

Tr*oy* will j*oi*n me to play a fun game with May.

The snake will c*oi*l up under the dark porch.

Did you see the t*oy* of left by the mound of dirt?

The car will leak *oi*l if you do not fix it.

It do not have joy when you lie to me.

The cake that I bake will be moist and then we can eat it.

Mark will plant his sunflower in the moist soil by his porch.

Troy will chomp his mouth
when he eats his gum.

Bart will hoist the tree up and twigs will drop to the ground.

Roy will put his lunch on the ground.

The loud noise of the stove makes my mom mad.

The girl put the soil back in Smith's black bag.

It gave me joy not to see
Grant cry after his game.

Marv's toy broke after he put it in the brisk river.

The sound of the broke joint made me turn.

Stir the pot so it does not boil over.

Roy and Ray broke the oil and had a big mess.

Point the the dog that has six legs.

Ouch! The tin foil split the skin on my finger and made it bleed.

Do not spoil the birthday gift we got for Blake and Jack.

Roy's shirt has a hole from where the chick bit him.

Chip, do not coil the rope under the porch.